

Pointer's Path Route

- 1 Point Marion Town Mural

This glass and ceramic mosaic mural integrates industrial heritage, conservation and the natural beauty of the two rivers, which meet at the point. Using pieces of glass from the L.J. House Convex Glass Company, formerly a major employer in the borough, community members made the mural in 2013.
- 2 Sheepskin Trail Intersection

The Trail intersection will connect the 48 mile West Virginia Mon River Trail System with the Great Allegheny Passage upon its completion. The Sheepskin Trail is a 34 mile recreational trail currently under development that will travel through Fayette County.
- 3 Point Marion Honor Roll

This War Memorial, at the corner of Union and Ontario Streets, was built in 1944 "In Memory of those Who Have Sacrificed Their All for a Better America." It includes the names of the men and women who served in the armed forces or gave their lives during the WWII.
- 4 Point Marion Public Library

The Point Marion Public Library is housed in what was once Point Marion High School and later the Junior High School. It was founded in 1921 by the Criterion Club – a women's organization. The library is still operated and managed by a volunteer board today.
- 5 Route 88/Monongahela River Bridge

Until 1930, the only way to cross the Monongahela River was by ferry boat. The ferry was pulled across the river with cables and an electric motor. In 1930, the Albert Gallatin Memorial Bridge was constructed. The bridge was the idea of the Point Marion Community Club. The funds to build the bridge were raised locally. It was operated as a toll bridge until 1957.
