Perform hand hygiene, then put on clean, non-sterile gloves. Change gloves if they become torn or heavily contaminated and discard when leaving the patient care area.

Use respiratory protection that is at least as protective as a fit-tested NIOSH-certified disposable N95 filtering facepiece respirator.

Put on a clean isolation gown. Change the gown if it becomes soiled and discard before leaving the patient care area.

Put on eye protection (e.g., goggles, a disposable face shield that covers the front and sides of the face).
